BIG EAST CONFERENCE

The BIG EAST Conference moves into 2005-06 with an emphasis on the word "Big" as the league becomes the largest Division I-A conference in the nation with 16 outstanding academic and athletic institutions. The goal of the BIG EAST has always been to compete at the highest level and to do so with integrity and sportsmanship.

In 2005-06, the league welcomed five new members: University of Cincinnati, DePaul University, University of Louisville, Marquette University and the University of South Florida.

BIG EAST institutions reside in nine of the nation's top 33 largest media markets, including New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Washington, D.C., Tampa, Pittsburgh, Hartford, Milwaukee and Cincinnati. With the incoming members, the BIG EAST markets will contain almost one fourth of all television households in the U.S.

Since opening its doors in 1979, the league has won 25 national championships in six different sports and 123 student-athletes have won individual national titles. Last year, Providence's Kim Smith won the NCAA women's country championship. The Notre Dame women's soccer team took the 2004 national title.

The BIG EAST has always been able to boast that some of its best students are also some of its best athletes. More than 300 student-athletes have earned Academic All-America honors.

In 2003-04, three BIG EAST student-athletes were named the national scholar-athletes of the year in their respective sports - Connecticut's Emeka Okafor in men's basketball, Notre Dame's Vanessa Pruzinsky in women's soccer and St. John's Chris Wingert in men's soccer.

BIG EAST student-athletes also have continued their success after leaving the classrooms and playing fields. Former Connecticut women's basketball standout Dr. Leigh Curl was inducted into the Academic All-America Hall of Fame in 1999. Former Georgetown men's basketball star Dikembe Mutombo was named a winner of the President's Service Award, the highest honor in the U.S. for volunteer service.

The BIG EAST continues to thrive in the basketball arena. In 2003-04, Connecticut became the first school in NCAA history to win the men's and women's NCAA titles in the same season. With the Syracuse men and the UConn women grabbing NCAA crowns the previous year, the BIG EAST also became the first conference in NCAA history to win the men's and women's titles in consecutive seasons. In fact, the BIG EAST has won five of the last six women's basketball crowns and three of the last seven men's titles.

Whether it's the student-athletes or the league as a whole, moving proactively has been a consistent strategy for the conference that was formed in 1979. The Big East has continually turned challenges into opportunities to bolster its strength.

In the spring of 2001, the BIG EAST added women's lacrosse to its growing list of sports. The inaugural women's golf championship was held in the spring of 2003.

The BIG EAST became a reality on May 31, 1979, following a meeting of athletic directors from Providence College, St. John's, Georgetown and Syracuse Universities. Seton Hall, Connecticut and Boston College completed the original seven school alliance.

While the membership has both increased and changed, the focus of the BIG EAST has not wavered. The conference reflects a tradition of broad based programs, led by administrators and coaches who place a constant emphasis on academic integrity. The BIG EAST Conference has enjoyed a leadership role nationally. Its student athletes own significantly high graduation rates and their record of scholastic achievement notably show a balance between intercollegiate athletics and academics.

Any successful organization needs outstanding leadership. Michael Tranghese, the league's first full-time employee, and for 11 years the associate to Dave Gavitt, moved into the Commissioner's chair in 1990. In his first year, he administered the formation of The BIG EAST Football Conference.

The league has long been considered a leader in innovative concepts in promotion and publicity, particularly regarding television. Those efforts have resulted in unparalleled visibility for BIG EAST student athletes. The conference has enjoyed long-standing relationships with CBS, ESPN, Inc. and ABC.

While BIG EAST basketball games are regular sellouts at campus and major public arenas, including the annual BIG EAST Championship in Madison Square Garden, attendance figures also are significant at BIG EAST soccer, women's basketball and baseball games.

More than 500 BIG EAST athletes have earned All America recognition and dozens have won individual NCAA national championships. The BIG EAST has been well represented in U.S. or foreign national and Olympic teams. Several athletes earned gold medals in each of the last five summer Olympiads.

The BIG EAST has its headquarters in Providence where the conference administers to more than 5,500 athletes in 23 sports.

The 2006 BIG EAST Rowing Championships are set for Sunday, April 30 in Worcester, Mass.

► Laurie Featherstone
► Assistant Coach

Laurie Featherstone enters her sixth season as an assistant coach with the Louisville women's rowing program and works primarily with the novices.

In five years with the novice program, Featherstone has had 31 members make the jump to the varsity in their second seasons.

During the 2004-05 season, Featherstone led the Cards Novice 8+ crew to an eighth-place finish out of 51 teams at the prestigious Head of the Schulykill

Regatta in Philadelphia.

In 2003-04, Featherstone led the Novice team to a win in the 8+ race at the Head of the Elk Regatta against BIG EAST and Big Ten competition as well as a Silver Medal finish in the 8+ at the Southern Intercollegiate Rowing Association Championships.

In 2002-03, both of the Cards' Novice 8+ crews advanced to the finals at the SIRA's and the "A" boat earned an impressive fourth-place finish, while in 2001-02, Featherstone led U of L to another Novice 8+ win over BIG EAST and Big Ten competition at the Head of the Elk.

Featherstone came to U of L with 13 continuous years of rowing experience, both as a coach and as a competitor.

Most recently, she served as a coach for the West Coast Rowing Club in Victoria, British Columbia, after spending one season as a sculling coach at the Florida Rowing Center in Wellington, Fla.

From 1995-99, Featherstone worked as the rowing coach for the University of Toronto, University of Western Ontario and Argonaut Rowing Clubs.

Featherstone raced for the Canadian National Team six times between 1991-99. She won a gold medal in the Lightweight 2- at the 1991 Pan Am Games in Havana, Cuba, a bronze medal in the Lightweight 4- in 1992 at the World Championships in Montreal and earned a ninth-place ranking in the Lightweight Single at the 1997 World Rowing Championships in Aiguebelette, France.

A four-year rower at the University of Waterloo (Ont.), Featherstone earned a Bachelor of Environmental Studies in 1992. The Stoney Creek, Ontario, native holds a Level II Canadian National Coaching Certificate.

► Lew Acampora
► Volunteer Assistant

Lew Acampora enters his first season as a volunteer coach with the U of L rowing program. Acampora learned to row with the Harvard Varsity Lightweight squad and earned his degree from Harvard in 1981. Following graduation, he taught at St. Mark's School in Mass., where he also coached the varsity boys crew for seven years. After rowing and teaching for two years in Orange County, Calif., he moved to Louisville and continues to be an avid rower competing in several master's sculling races each year. He and his fiancée, Lenore Hoyt, currently reside in Louisville.

► Laura Fogt
► Assistant Coach

Laura Fogt enters her second year as an assistant coach on the Louisville women's rowing staff. Fogt works primarily with the varsity squad while also assisting with the development of the novice squad and the recruitment of the next Cardinal talent.

Fogt came to U of L after a combined six years of rowing and coaching experience at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

While at Carolina, Fogt served as the novice coach and recruiting coordinator. Fogt's crews experienced much success under her guidance with top-5 finishes at the Head of the Chattahoochee for two consecutive years; a bronze medal at the 2004 Dad Vail Championships and a strong finish at the 2004 NCAA South Central Championship.

"It is a very exciting time to be involved with U of L athletics and I look forward to helping take the program to the next level," said Fogt after joining the Cardinal rowing program in the summer of 2004.

A graduate of the University of North Carolina ('01), Fogt received her degree from the School of Journalism and Mass Communication with a concentration in public relations. Fogt helped to bring the Tar Heels to a top-25 finish for the first time and is a two-time letter winner. In her senior year, Fogt earned MVP honors as well as being named to the Central Rowing Coaches Association (CRCA) All-South Region Second Team.

► Stephanie Baker
► Volunteer Assistant

Stephanie Baker enters her first season as a volunteer assistant after a successful collegiate rowing career at U of L. As a student-athlete, Baker fell in love with the sport of rowing and it quickly became a lifestyle for the Louisville native. She earned her bachelor's of science degree in civil engineering in December, 2004 and her master's of civil engineering in civil and environmental engineering in August, 2005.

► John Mortenson
► Volunteer Assistant

John Mortenson enters his second season as a volunteer coach with the Cardinal rowing program. Mortenson began rowing at Emory-Riddle Aeronautical University where he earned a degree in aeronautical science. He currently works in UPS Flight Training and with the Air National Guard.

► Central/Southern Region Sprints

When the NCAA decided to add rowing to its docket of sponsored collegiate sports and institute a national championship event, the governing body also divided up the schools that fielded rowing teams into five regions: New England, Mid-Atlantic, Central, South and West.

With the establishment of the groupings, regional championships were also developed. In the Central Region, Melton Hill Lake in Oak Ridge, Tenn., was chosen as the site of the inaugural competition in 1997 and has hosted the event ever since. The venue was selected by the coaches because of its geographically-centralized location and its recognition as one of the nation's best courses.

Unlike the New England, Mid-Atlantic and West Regions, the Central Region Championships event is the only regatta of its kind in the NCAA, and the competition is relegated to intercollegiate programs which compete in both the Central and South Regions.

achieve the Doctoral/Research University-Extensive designation from the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching.

U of L's transplantation research program received international acclaim after performing only the second successful hand transplant in the world.

The university also was the first in the world to implant the Abioco artificial heart in a patient. U of L continues to work with the company and other universities on the program.

The Institute for Cellular Therapeutics is working on leading-edge immunosuppression research that soon may lead to better, less risky transplantation procedures and treatments for diseases ranging from cancer to sickle cell anemia.

U of L's entrepreneurship program is ranked among the nation's best by Success magazine.

Its logistics and distribution program works with the United Parcel Service hub and other Louisville-area businesses to improve delivery systems throughout the world.

Its college of Education and Human Development works closely with area and state schools to continue refining Kentucky's nationally acclaimed efforts to reform education in grades P-12.

Through the presentation of the $200,000 Grawemeyer Award for Music Composition, U of L's music school has built the world's top collection of contemporary music.

And U of L's Brandeis School of Law boasts a student body that has won several national competitions in recent years.

The university continues to upgrade its research facilities. In recent years, U of L has opened two medical research facilities and broken ground on a building for nanotechnology, microfabrication and other high-tech research. It currently is planning for a third new medical research facility to help house the dozens of nationally-renowned researchers joining its faculty.

And the university is continuing its drive for Comprehensive Cancer Center status, a designation for the top cancer research centers in the nation. It would be the only such facility in the area.

Located in the heart of Kentucky's largest city, U of L offers its students a chance to learn in a "real world" setting, interacting with the community's education, corporate and civic leaders. Through programs like the Grawemeyer Awards and U of L's McConnell Center for Political Leadership, students are exposed to many of the world's most powerful citizens, including Sen. Hillary Rodham Clinton, Supreme Court Justice Clarence Thomas, Secretary of State Colin Powell and former Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev.

► The City

The Louisville area owes its existence to the Falls of the Ohio, the only place where the 981-mile river flows over bedrock. The falls were really a rapids where the river dropped about 27 feet in three miles, usually blocking passage by boat.

Early explorers recognized the strategic importance of the Falls. George Rogers Clark established the first settlement there in 1778, to use as a base of his invasion of British territory in Southern Illinois and Indiana. Two years later that settlement became Louisville — named for King Louis XVI of France, who was supporting the American Revolution.

Louisville quickly became a vital transportation center for the young nation. Ports were established above and below the Falls. Passengers and freight moved overland around the rapids. Trails and road connected the ports to inland settlements in Kentucky and Indiana. The steamboat brought prosperity and growth to the area; by 1850, Louisville was the 10th largest city in the nation.

In the decades that followed, railroads greatly improved connections with cities throughout the nation, and Louisville became known as the "Gateway to the South." Businesses and industries were attracted by the strong and convenient transportation network and Louisville became an industrial center.

In recent years, the economy of the Louisville area has shifted from a heavy reliance on industry to an increasing emphasis on services, including transportation. Once again, location is a key factor. Louisville is located near the center for the eastern half of the contiguous 48 states, with nearly half of the nation's consumer markets within a 500-mile radius. The climate is mild enough that Louisville's airport is rarely closed because of weather.

Climate, location and a good transportation system helped convince United Parcel Service to establish its national hub in Louisville in the early 1980s. UPS, in turn, is attracting businesses that depend on fast and efficient transportation of their goods to other parts of the nation and throughout the world.

The Kentucky Center for the Arts is one of the nation's premier performing arts facilities, housing three spacious theatres.

Sports, including U of L athletics, are an important facet of life in the Louisville area. Churchill

Downs has hosted three Breeders' Cups and continues its traditional Run for the Roses each May. The 1996 and 2000 PGA Championships were held at

"The best college sports town in America."

Valhalla Golf Course in eastern Jefferson County, while the Ryder Cup will be held on the same course in 2007. The Louisville Bats, the triple-A baseball team of the Cincinnati Reds, play at the new downtown Louisville Slugger Field and have drawn over a million fans to games in a single season in years past. Over 140 public parks, 20 public golf courses and 226 public tennis courts also provide outdoor entertainment.

Even though Louisville has changed over the years, it still has the flavor and gentleness of a Southern town. The Belle of Louisville steamboat still paddles its way up and down the Ohio River daily, mint juleps are still served under an old oak tree during the hot and muggy summers and fishing in the many lakes and rivers of the city and surrounding counties is still a favorite pastime.

Another favorite in Louisville is trying to figure out the correct pronunciation of the city. So if you're a tourist, don't say Louie-ville or Lewis-ville. Natives claim it's Lou-a-vuhl. Either way, Louisville is still the same happy place.

Among some of the finest facilities in college athletics, the University of Louisville offers its student-athletes and entire student body one of the top physical plants in the mid-South.

The brightest jewel in the Cards' crown of facilities is Papa John's Cardinal Stadium. Funded by U of L supporters and fans for U of L supporters and fans, PJCS features the revolutionary SportGrass surface which allows natural grass to grow through a synthetic base for year-round durability.

Adjacent to PJCS is the Cardinal football complex which houses offices for the U of L football and support staff. Along with team meeting space and locker facilities, the Cardinal football complex owns more than 9,100 square feet for strength and conditioning and 4,000 square feet for training and rehabilitation needs. The BellSouth / Johnny Unitas Football Museum serves as an entrance way to the football complex.

The U of L men's and women's basketball teams play their home games in the legendary Freedom Hall located two miles from campus on the KFEC grounds. Host to six NCAA Division I men's basketball finals, Freedom Hall will serve as the men's home for the 48th consecutive season while the women's team will play its home games in the hallowed halls for the sixth year.

The Cardinal volleyball team plays in Cardinal Arena, which also serves as a practice facility for the hoops teams during the winter. With a capacity of 1,000 and located on campus at the Student Activities Center, the venue provides an intimidating venue for boisterous Cardinal fans. Strength and training facilities along with the administrative offices for the entire athletic department are also included in the SAC.

Home to the Cardinal tennis teams, the Bass-Rudd Tennis Center has been recognized as one of the nation's top facilities with six indoor and eight outdoor courts located on the southeast corner of campus.

Cardinal Park serves as a front lawn for the University and features a cardiovascular path to serve the entire Louisville community encircling the various facilities.

Ulmer Stadium, located on the north section of Cardinal Park, serves as home to the Cardinals' softball team. One of the nicest playing complexes in all of college athletics, the venue features stadium lighting, chairback seating for more than 700 and an enclosed press box.

In the middle of Cardinal Park is the Track and Soccer Stadium, which provides a state-of-the-art track encircling a playing field for the Cardinal soccer teams. This area boasts field lighting, men's and women's locker rooms for soccer, softball and track, meeting rooms, coaches' dressing rooms, a fully equipped training room and a climate-controlled press box. Bleachers accommodate approximately 2,200 fans.

Trager Stadium, located on the south section of Cardinal Park, serves as home to the Cardinal's field hockey team. The artificial turf surface field is surrounded by bleachers and a seating area that accommodates up to 1,000 fans. Trager Stadium was the site of the 2002 NCAA Field Hockey Championships.

The recently opened Spencer Holt-designed Cardinal Club Golf Course gives the U of L golf teams one of the nation's finest facilities. The 20-acre practice facility set aside just for Cardinal golfers features three chipping greens, two practice putting greens and a two-tiered driving range.

The newest athletic facilities on the U of L campus are Jim Patterson Stadium and Ralph R. Wright Natatorium. Patterson Stadium, home of the Cardinal baseball program, was opened on April 15, 2005 and is one of the top collegiate baseball stadiums in the nation. Wright Natatorium, the new home to Cardinal swimming and diving, hosted its first official competition on Oct. 7, 2005 as U of L defeated Eastern Illinois in a dual match.

And construction continues for U of L athletics as the Trager Center, an indoor practice facility for football and track and field among other sports, is set to open in December of 2005.

Located less than one mile from the Belknap Campus, the Cardinal Sports Complex serves as a home to the U of L women's rowing program as well as the men's and women's golf and field hockey programs.

Formerly the home of the U of L football team prior to the construction of Papa John's Cardinal Stadium, the Cardinal Sports Complex gives U of L student-athletes everything they need to succeed on and off the field.

Along with office space for coaching staffs and administrators, the complex houses an academic lab with Internet-ready computer facilities, a fully-outfitted training and rehabilitation area, a state-of-the-art strength and conditioning room and a spacious locker room.
